Financial wealth Vs Education wealth

The authors who scripted India's Constitution, officially adopted on January 26, 1950 as the nation's supreme law, essentially providing the framework for functioning of government, desired to secure (a) Justice, (b) Liberty, (c) Equality and (d) Fraternity to all citizens of the nation. Provision was made to undo the perceived inequalities of some sections in the population by introducing the all-too-well-known measure of reservation in school admissions and for jobs in the government excluding the Departments of Defence and Atomic Energy. For the first time in the long history of the land its population was officially classified into numerically growing sections based on caste factor that have come to be known as (a) Scheduled Castes, (b) Scheduled Tribes and (c) Other Backward Classes, leaving the rest out of reckoning for the Constitution-assured privileges. Although the landmark measure was initially for a 10-year period, it has endured for more than 68 years until now witnessing another exclusive section of the land's population, popularly known as the creamy layer among the mass favoured for the aforementioned privileges.

The seemingly simple measure of reservation, while not yet fulfilling its intended purpose and objective fully, has snowballed into a complex societal scenario, including the feature of more people seeking inclusion in the above mentioned three classifications for getting rid of their status of inequality. Thus, caste continues with its cosmic dance engaging the law-makers to walk on tight rope as it were.

We have heard the view of many in the country's knowledgeable circles about the role of the country's British rulers in playing up the factor of castes to divide the land's people by exploiting their emotional attachment to their caste identities. We also hear from the scholarly fraternity that caste is neither featured in the land's ancient script of the four Vedas nor is it an Indian term. The word, derived from Portuguese term casta, also doesn't have any synonym in any of the land's ancient texts including the Vedas and Puranas. If the Indian populace fell for the viles and guiles of the colonialists, why blame them, forgetting that the identity of different sections of the population, as ordained by the leading lights of a bygone long past, was based on their callings in life such as (a) Academic pursuits, (b) Protecting the territory from invaders, (c) Trading and (d) Labouring in the service of society.

The foregoing long preamble brings us to the point of focussing on human wealth based on education in preference to financial wealth, which is said to be insecure, apart from creating inequality, among the people. Moreover, education-based wealth is more equally distributed than financial wealth, thus crediting the land's Constitution for introducing reservation. But, the creamy layer?

LACK OF SPORTING SPIRIT: Congress leader Manish Tewari on Sunday tweeted an email from the Office of the Minister of State for Information and Broadcasting, Rajyavardhan Rathore. The email purportedly asked Sports Federations to provide details of medals won by Indian athletes in international sporting events in the last four years. The Minister also sought to know if a comparison can be made with medals won during the Congress-led UPA's time. "Isn't this blatant politicisation of sports?" Tewari asked. Tewari, Rathore's predecessor at the Ministry, said: "Sportsperson win medals for India not National Democratic Alliance (NDA/BJP) or UPA! Very shameful." — In Business Standard.

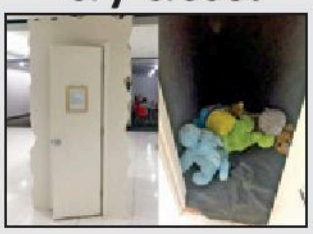
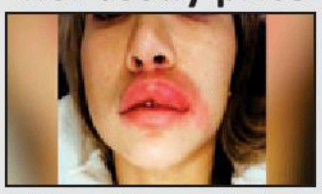
'Cry Closet'



Salt Lake City: Stressed-out students at the University of Utah, can now let loose without having to worry about judgmental looks from their peers, thanks to a small 'cry closet' that allows them to cry in private. With homework, tough exams and student debt as high as it is these days, and sometimes you just need to cry before getting back on the horse. But not everyone is comfortable sobbing in public, so the University of Utah decided to help students let loose their emotions by installing a small cry room in the campus library. Created by University of Utah student and visual artist Nemo Miller in woodshop class, the cry closet is lined with a black interior, and features plush stuffed animals inside so that students can hug and squeeze as they cry for 10 minutes. Nemo Miller's creation has been getting quite a lot of attention on social media and most people love the idea and wish such facilities were available in colleges everywhere.

Going cheap cost her costly price



Moscow: Elizaveta Tkachenko, a 30-year-old woman from Russia, a resident of Stavropol, had decided that she wanted to enhance certain facial features with the help of cosmetic filler injections, only instead of going to a trained aesthetician, she turned to her friend Irina, an accountant, who did the procedures at home, for cheaper. Tvacheno, who would live to regret her decision, claims that her friend assured her that she only used quality fillers and sterile instruments, and she had plenty of experience in this field. The woman had an unknown quantity of filler injected into her lips and near her eyes, which causing her extreme that she had trouble breathing, her head would ache terribly and her lips looked ready to burst. A day after the botched injections, she had to be taken to the hospital. The criminal case has been opened against Irina. A report mentioned that Irina lacked basic knowledge of medicine and was completely unfit to perform this sort of cosmetic injections. Elizaveta has been discharged from the hospital, but it's unclear when or if her face will return to normal.

Bus shelters and footpaths needed on Bogadi Road

Sir,

In the absence of footpaths and bus shelters on Bogadi Road, which is one of the main arterial roads of the city connecting the Ring Road to New Sayyaji Rao Road and most neglected road, public are being inconvenienced a lot.

From Railway Gate to Ring Road, there is only one bus shelter at AIISH Circle, close to a temple and that too half finished. In the absence of defined footpaths, there is no limit for two-wheeler riders and they are going to extremes of the road without following lane discipline and inconveniencing the pedestrians, especially at AIISH Circle (towards Aroma bakery side).

In the absence of bus shelters, many commuters can be seen always waiting for city buses under the scorching sun or rain at University Guest House, AIISH Circle and other nearby junctions. AIISH Circle is very busy with both pedestrians and vehicle users from 8 am to 8 pm with many mothers taking their kids by walk to AIISH for treatment.

As of now, this road is very poorly lit with street lights. As this road is under widening process, it is requested that the MCC officials plan for bus shelters on either side of the roads at the Circles indicated above, but not very close to the Circles, and footpaths on this road as done at Yadavagiri underbridge road, with a provision for street lights on the road divider.

BJP workers create ruckus
at Varuna Assembly workers meeting

T. Narasipur, Apr.30 (SK& ACP)- Expressing anger over denial of party ticket to former CM B.S. Yeddyurappa's son B.Y. Vijayendra from Varuna Assembly segment, disgruntled BJP workers created ruckus at a party meeting here yesterday.

The meeting of Varuna Assembly workers and leaders was convened at the party office located on College Road in the town yesterday, as the party Election Observers had visited the segment. Soon as the meeting began, a few party workers launched a scathing attack on party candidate from Varuna Thotadappa Basavaraju.

Accusing Basavaraju of snatching away the ticket from BSY's son B.Y. Vijayendra, the workers maintained that Basavaraju had bungled the BJP's chances of winning the seat, by himself (Basavaraju) getting the ticket.

The agitated workers, who raised slogans against Thotadappa Basavaraju, vandalised the office. However, the Police brought the situation under control after sometime. The workers also alleged that ZP and TP members of all Hoblis in Varuna Assembly Constituency were not invited for the meeting.

Meanwhile, B.Y. Vijayendra, reacting to vandalism by party workers, said that BJP workers were a disciplined force and would not resort to any acts of indiscipline.

Alleging the hands of persons who were not linked to the party in the ruckus, he appealed the party workers not to fall prey to any provocations. Stressing on the need for maintaining discipline in the party, he called upon the party workers to ensure that the BJP returns to power in the May 12 Assembly polls.

Thanking the workers for showing affection towards him, he however warned that indiscipline would not be tolerated in the party and everyone should work hard for the party's victory.

Varuna BJP candidate Thotadappa Basavaraju said, he will not lodge any complaint in this regard, but will bring the issue to the notice of the High Command.

Parties fail to accommodate women candidates in Mysuru region

Mysuru, Apr.30- Major political parties have continued to neglect women while giving tickets in Mysuru region for May 12 election to the Karnataka Legislative Assembly despite women constitute almost 50 percent of the registered voters.

In some constituencies, women outnumber male voters. Of the 23,69,987 registered voters in the district, as per the recent revision of the electoral rolls, there are 11,90,854 men and 11,79,133 women voters.

In three Assembly segments — Krishnaraja, Narasimharaja and T. Narsipur — women voters outnumber men. In Krishnaraja, there are 1,14,315 men as against 1,16,112 women voters while in T. Narsipur, the numbers are 95,693 and 96,163, respectively. In Narasimharaja, there are 1,20,468 men and 1,22,855 women voters.

Women aspirants have said that local and State units of political parties do not even consider fielding women candidates though the leadership at the top level favour giving adequate representation. There are 11 Assembly constituencies in Mysuru district and all the MLAs elected in 2013 polls were men. While allotting tickets, most political parties favour the "winnability" factor. In the recent past, Muktharunnisa Begum was elected as an MLA from N.R. Constituency, back in 1985, while Sunitha Veerappa Gowda was once elected from the now-dissolved Bannur constituency.

In the neighbouring Chamarajanagar district, Parimala Nagappa made it from Hanur segment riding on the sympathy wave after the death of her husband Nagappa when he was in Veerappan captivity. Years ago, K.S. Nagarathnamma was elected from Gundlupet constituency and Chandraprabha Urs from Hunsur. More recently, Geetha Mahadevaprasad from Gundlupet made it to the Assembly after the demise of her husband H.S. Mahadevaprasad.

Forest tribes threaten to boycott election

Mysuru, Apr.30 (PM&US)- Alleging that Forest Rights Act was not being property implemented and forest tribes were being harassed, Adivasi Communities collectively have threatened to boycott the State Assembly polls.

Disclosing this at a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here yesterday, Adivasis Federation Convenor Babu opined that adivasis were being utilised for vote bank. He said that facilities were still a dream for the tribe. He further said that though India got independence over 70 years ago, forest tribes have not experienced the real freedom.

Continuing, Babu alleged that the Forest Department was treating forest tribes as slaves and added that false cases were being booked against the tribe for questioning their rights. He urged the Government not to hand over 40% of the forest land to private players for maintenance as per a proposal.

Babu further said that though some of the tribals have been displaced 25 to 30 years ago, they have not been rehabilitated. He sought the habitat of forest tribals to be called revenue villages with all basic amenities like roads, power connection and water facility. He also sought health benefits for tribals.

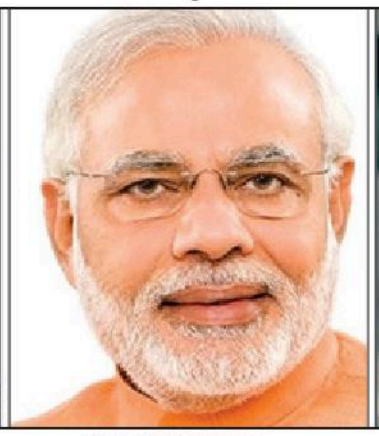
Nebulae over BJP campaign in Karnataka

What message you send to your voters is of utmost importance

A Kannada TV Channel discusses why not a Bengalurean as CM this time?!

Amit Shah



Narendra Modi

B.S. Yeddyurappa

The feeling among Lingayats all over the State is that in the event of a hung Assembly, should the BJP and the JD(S) form an alliance Government, the prospects of Yeddyurappa becoming the Chief Minister is very dim. And BJP's Delhi High Command will have its own sinister designs. This perception of the present election scene does not augur well both for BJP and Yeddyurappa. Advantage is to Siddharamaiah and his Congress.

I am not a prophet of doom but I am certainly one who can see the straws in the wind and predict the ensuing storm. Presently, I am seeing such signs in the Karnataka BJP camp.

It is difficult to say if Amit Shah, the BJP National President, made a mistake by declaring B.S. Yeddyurappa, the State BJP President (age 75), as the future Chief Ministerial candidate as early as in 2016 when he came to Karnataka. It has ruffled the feathers of other contenders to the CM's Office so much so these ambitious men seem to be scheming to sabotage Yeddyurappa's choice and chance. These aspirants are adopting many subtle ways as also ways that are NOT fair, just and equitable to knock-out Yeddyurappa. This is because BJP is seen as a sure winner in the May 12, 2018 Assembly elections — either as a single Party or as an alliance partner.

However, these BJP aspirants for the CM's Office seem to be oblivious to the danger of BJP losing this election to the crafty and ruthless incumbent Chief Minister Siddharamaiah's Congress as a result of their scheming to nudge Yeddyurappa off the CM's chair.

Of late, the BJP High Command, read Amit Shah and Prime Minister Narendra Modi, seem to back Yeddyurappa baiters in a highly nuanced way. This time too it might be like in the 2008 victory of BJP and what happened thereafter. The BJP High Command, after using Yeddyurappa to get 110 seats, then crossing the magic number of 113 through 'Operation Kamala,' allowed Yeddyurappa to be the Chief Minister. However, the High Command never came to his rescue when he was caught in the snare called the Lokayukta. In fact, when every politician was getting bail in such cases, Yeddyurappa was denied bail and sent to jail. The BJP High Command seemed least bothered at Yeddyurappa's predicament. In fact, rumour was that the High Command compromised to the detriment of Yeddyurappa. [Refer SOM dated 28.4.2018: BJP wants Yeddy's votes... but not Yeddy?].

'Operation Dislodge Yeddyurappa' was a success. Thereafter, the State BJP was like a rudderless ship in the high seas. That is another story...

However, it was indeed providential that those who successfully schemed to dislodge Yeddyurappa in 2011 could not succeed in occupying the CM's chair as Yeddyurappa succeeded in getting his own men in his place. Here too, of the two, one betrayed him. Let it be.

I have a gut feeling that a replay of 2011 is likely to take place should the BJP win in this 2018 elections.

Reasons: BJP High Command gave G. Janardhana Reddy's family and associates seven tickets to contest. However, as if to pull wool over the eyes of the voters Amit Shah said he would not allow Janardhana Reddy (not given ticket) to canvass for BJP candidates! Whom is he fooling?

Now look at the way the same Amit Shah refused to give a ticket to B.Y. Vijayendra, a deserving candidate in all respects with a good winning chance, in comparison to his main rival in the Varuna Constituency. BJP did not have any good candidate in this Constituency. Therefore, the local BJP leaders persuaded Vijayendra to enter Varuna. Amit Shah and the whole world knew he had begun to canvass and the response was electrifying.

And again the predators eyeing the CM's chair ensured that the ticket was denied to Vijayendra because he is the son of Yeddyurappa. The sad part is that it was done in an insulting manner on the day he was going to the Returning Officer to file his nomination papers.

If ticket for two or three members in a family of other BJP leaders could be given why not to Yeddyurappa's family? Janardhana Reddy's associates and family members are okay but not Yeddyurappa's, that too he being the President. Surprising!

Now comes the news that Yeddyurappa is asked not to share stage with Narendra Modi in his rallies beginning from May 1 , 2018. Yeddyurappa would be with Modi in only one of the 15 rallies Modi was scheduled to address. What message will this send to the voters? The explanation is that all the three 'Star Campaigners' of BJP — Modi, Amit Shah and B.S. Yeddyurappa — being on the same stage will hamper canvassing in many other Constituencies. In fact, I would say Yeddyurappa seen with Modi on the same stage in 15 rallies would create a wave, like we used to have Indira wave, instead of the present BJP breeze. Look at Siddharamaiah. He is always with Rahul Gandhi in Karnataka and it is creating the wave.

I guess, in the given scenario, keeping Yeddyurappa off Modi campaign is also a part of the scheme crafted by the two aspirants of BJP, with strong RSS backing, for the CM's chair. Earlier the BJP High Command snuffs the ambitions of these men in the bud better it is for the BJP to achieve victory in the polls crossing the magic number of 113 seats.

It is said, there is already a whispering campaign in North Karnataka, following denial of ticket to Vijayendra, that the BJP is likely to ditch Yeddyurappa after the elections.

Further, the feeling among the Lingayats all over the State is that in case of a hung Assembly should the BJP and JD(S) form an alliance Government, the prospects of Yeddyurappa becoming the Chief Minister is very dim. And BJP's Delhi High Command will have its own sinister designs.

This perception of the present election scene does not augur well both for BJP and Yeddyurappa. Advantage is to Siddharamaiah and his Congress. BJP High Command must realise Yeddyurappa has better understanding of Karnataka voters and also their sympathy than the BJP High Command in Delhi.

By the way yesterday afternoon I was surprised to find in one Kannada TV channel a programme discussing about why no politician from Bengaluru, with 28 MLAs, has become the Chief Minister since independence? Why not a BJP leader from Bengaluru become the Chief Minister if BJP comes to power? The programme showed the images of some of the important leaders who had won in the past, including that of MP Ananth Kumar. What does it suggest? Think of the timing of this programme!

I can only say this. The present BJP campaign strategy to diminish Yeddyurappa's stature and role does not augur well for BJP's victory. And if BJP loses in Karnataka, who wins? Of course, the Congress. And who will win in 2019 Parliament elections? The BJP, of course, but with a reduced majority.

Narendra Modi and Amit Shah should do a lot of introspection before the sands of time slips between their fingers.

Remember the countdown for the 2018 elections. 12 days to go. Good luck to all Parties.

Assembly polls: Random checking at Railway Station, Bus Stands

Mysuru, Apr.30 (RK&NNN)- Even as only 12 days are left for the countdown to the May 12 Assembly elections in Karnataka, the Election Commission of India (ECI) is leaving no stone unturned to curb electoral malpractices. As one more step in this direction, it has asked the Police Department to start random checking at Railway Stations, Suburban Bus Stand and City Bus Stand from today.

Disclosing this to Star of Mysore here this morning, City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao said that from today onwards there will be random checking of all vehicles at the three places mentioned above apart from the checking of flow of cash, liquor and other freebies that are meant to entice voters at the 49 check-posts set up by the District Administration in the district. He said that since the Model Code of Conduct is in force, directions came from the ECI to check all the four-wheelers and two-wheelers coming to the Bus Stands and Railway Station randomly.

"We will be doing the random checks with the assistance of the Paramilitary Forces that are already stationed in the city. There will be 5 to 6 personnel in each team who will keep a 24-hour watch. All the CCTV cameras, installed in public places including parking lots, will be monitored for any suspicious movements," he said.

The movements thus recorded up to 10 pm each day will be sent to the Deputy Commissioner, who is also the District Electoral Officer, who will in turn send it to the ECI, he said.

Apart from this, a General and Expenditure Observers team comprising 22 officers from North India, who are stationed in Central Institute of Indian Languages (CIIL), deputed by the ECI, will also keep a watch on movement of cash, liquor and other freebies and conduct random checking, said Dr. A.S. Rao.

An eagle's eye is also being kept on the movement of the candidates of all parties, watching their every move. The vehicles they are moving around are also being watched as the money and other inducements could be carried in these vehicles too, suspect the ECI. The random checks will be conducted all over the city too and any person or vehicle moving around in suspicious circumstances will be checked, he said.

Journalists among 21 killed in twin suicide blasts in Kabul

Kabul (Afganistan), Apr.30- At least 21 people, including Agence France-Presse chief photographer Shah Marai and three other journalists were killed, when two suicide blasts ripped through Kabul this morning.

Ministry Spokesman Wahid Majroh said that at least 27 people were wounded and rushed to hospital, warning that some were in critical condition and the toll could yet rise.

The first bomb was detonated by an assailant on a motorcycle and left at least four dead and five injured, according to the interior Ministry. The second explosion came minutes after the first blast which was targeted at reporters at the scene.

Police Spokesman Kabul Hashmat Stanikzai said that the bomber, who had disguised himself as a journalist detonated himself among the crowd. He confirmed that journalists had been killed, but said he did not know how many.

No group has claimed responsibility for the attack, which occurred near the headquarters of the Afghan Intelligence Services, the Interior Ministry said.

Hunsur Main Road opens for traffic

Mysuru, Apr.30 (YDS&NNN)- The traffic on Hunsur Road from the Jaladarshini Guest House opposite Kalamandira up to the Mosque near Valmiki Road, which was closed for many months to straighten the road, was opened to the traffic from yesterday.

About four to five months back the environmentalists and activists had vehemently opposed the straightening of the stretch at a cost of Rs.13 crore, as they feared the felling of 79 trees and said that the curve near Jaladarshini Guest House was not the problem but it was dangerous driving that led to fatal accidents.

The National Highway Authority of India bowing to public pressure significantly altered its original plan and under the revised plan only seven trees were felled and then they began the work.

The work is now complete and the vehicles plying to Hunsur, Kodagu and Hassan, which were all diverted, thus causing inconvenience to the public, are now free to move on this stretch from yesterday.

'Namma MYTRA' logo launched

Valedictory of National Road Safety Week

Mysuru, Apr.30- The city Police launched 'Namma MYTRA' logo to project the Traffic Police as people-friendly.

The logo was launched yesterday during the valedictory of the 29th National Road Safety Week at Karnataka Police Academy (KPA) auditorium in Nazarabad.

Speaking after launching the logo, City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao said, "In the present day, the way people perceive the Traffic Police is very different and it is mostly in the negative light. The very words Traffic Police means 'Vasooli' (to collect bribes).

Even though we impose fines on people violating traffic rules and collect them, we are still looked at with suspicion. Hence, we are trying to project Traffic Police as people-friendly by launching this logo."

It is not only the Traffic Police but the Police from other Departments should also take a oath to be people-friendly. "In the coming days, the Police who are working in the Traffic Department will be selected after they pass an entrance test," he said.

On the occasion, prizes were distributed to the children who had participated in various competitions organised as part of Road Safety Week.

Hootagalli's Ramesh and Diwakar, who had assisted the Police during accidents and KSRTC drivers M. Shamsunder, B.S. Raghuram and M.K. Kumaraswamy were felicitated for their anti-accident driving.

Deputy Commissioners of Police (DCPs) N. Vishnuvardhana and Mahaninga B. Nandaganvi, Traffic Sub-Division ACP B.L. Venugopal, K.R. Traffic Police Inspector Sathyanarayan, Siddarthanagar Traffic Police Inspector Muniyappa, N.R. Traffic Police Inspector S. Nagesh, V.V. Puram Traffic Inspector A. Amanulla, Devaraj Traffic Inspector M. Chandrashekar and others were present during the valedictory.

Vaastu-Feng Shui & Bio-energetics

By S.B.S.Surendran
Accredited Master Feng Shui Consultant

Space & Energy

To encourage a good energy flow in your money area, focus on the South-east sector of your home and living area. Placing healthy green plants, clean water feature or even decorating the sector in shades of green would help.

Understanding nature and the energy of our surroundings from the Feng Shui perspective, creates the harmonious environment in terms of establishing a healthy and nourishing relationship with your home.

Energy In flat open spaces is different from energy in mountainous areas; similarly energy in a valley is different from energy on a plateau. This means that each type of a land-form has a specific type of energy associated with it. However, as all of us live within a structure created by us, we either impede the flow of energy or enhance it through our design, layout and décor. This has a significantly strong contribution and influence on the occupants.

Every person, place and thing is alive with the universal energy called 'Chi.' Everything is connected by this vital energy which is always changing. When we integrate the Feng Shui principles into our live, we see and interact with the world in a new powerful way. Feng Shui can be a powerful force shaping our lives but it is not a cure for all ills. What we do with our lives and how we behave towards others will play a part, and education gives us the tools to make sense of the world.

Everything in the universe is interconnected. Hence, mankind and the universe have a strong relationship between them. The cause and effect of the universal energies reflect in the lives of the mankind and manifest as various aspirations. Wealth, relationship, health, career, all has subtle connection to the universal energies and hence when these energies are not in synchronicity, they can impede the progress and dampen the prospects of the aspirations. It is said that buildings have their intrinsic energy which is akin to a "soul" in a living being. Hence listening to the place of dwelling will give a clear insight of what needs to be done to either counter or enhance the flow of energies in a place.

The art of Feng Shui is the art of placement and arrangement of space to achieve harmony with in your environment. In Feng Shui, it is important to harness positive energy and allow it to flow freely. Ensure that there is no obstacle especially when you enter a room, as it will obstruct the smooth flow of energy through the room.

• One can enhance wealth luck through Feng Shui. To encourage a good energy flow in your money area, focus on the Southeast sector of your home and living area. South East represents Wood element hence one can strengthen the energy of money and wealth. Placing healthy green plants, clean water feature or even decorating the sector in shades of green would help.

• To enhance relationship luck, focus on the Southwest sector of the home. Ensure that in your design toilets do not get positioned in SW corner. Displaying décors which symbolise happiness, togetherness would be beneficial. Avoid depicting war scenes and images exhibiting loneliness and sadness.

As the personal energy of the individual is connected to everything around us we are influenced and affected by our immediate surroundings. There are no real, strict boundaries in the world of energy; this is why good Feng Shui in any space is so important.

'Ramayana' as a tribute to Lalgudi Jayaraman

Vishakha Hari presenting a musical discourse at Mysore Vasudevacharya Bhavan in city recently.

By Dr. Padmavathi Narasimhan

On the 21st of April, popular musician and Harikatha exponent Vishakha Hari gave a musical discourse at Mysore Vasudevacharya Bhavan, Mysuru. The event was organised by Raga Vaibhava. Vishakha was accompanied by Charulata Ramanujam on violin, Arjun Ganesh on mridanga and S. Manjunath on ghata. The three-hour event enchanted the audience who were glued to their seats till the end.

'Ramayana' as a tribute to her Guru Lalgudi G. Jayaraman was the topic of the day and Vishakha covered the story from the very beginning where Sage Valmiki asks Rama 'Konvasmin Sampratam Loke gunavan kascha veeryavan' meaning who is the one in this world who is handsome, known for his valour, kind, who always follows Dharma and is truthful, who possesses good character, is devoid of jealousy, good in art and at his heart?

Vishakha extolled the virtues of Rama, attributing them to her Guru and said Jayaraman owned all these qualities of Rama and lived every moment of his life for people as Rama did. Just as Rama had his bow in his hand, Jayaraman had his bow (pun) in his hand and enthralled the world with it. (This statement caused many elderly eyebrows in the hall to raise, as Vishakha's opening of her recital with Tyagaraja's 'Samanamevaru' in Kharaharapriya, which goes to explain who could be equal to Rama was somewhat ironic).

Vishakha also highlighted Lalgudi's virtue as a trend setter. Previously it was enough if the violinist as an accompanist knew the swaras to follow. But Lalgudi was not satisfied with this. He insisted that the violinist and also the mridangist should know the mood of the composer. He was a musician who saw music (sangeeta) in lyrics (sahitya) unlike other musicians who see sahitya in sangeetha. And measure was like salt to him. He would not overdo anything — be it birgas or sangatis as Bhava was most important to him. Lalgudi also gave prominence to the sahitya and the right split in the lyrics. Why the right split in sahitya is important was explained humorously by Vishakha illustrating 'Karamuna Shara Kodanda kanti' in 'Nannupalimpa' Kriti, which is wrongly split by many as 'Karamuna Sharako Dandapani' which would change the entire meaning as the composition is on Rama who is Kodanda Pani and not on Subramanya who is Dandapani. Lalgudi learned Telugu to understand the mood and sahitya of the composition. More than 50-60 compositions of Tyagaraja which were not on the concert platform like 'Enta muddu (Bindumalini) and Nadaloludai (Kalyana vasanta) were brought to the fore by Lalgudi. He would grammatically analyse each composition and improvise on the sangatis in each one of them. That is why his violin was known to 'sing.' The swaras he played were pleasing to the mind and soothing to the ears. Every syllable was loaded with melody.

'Marugelara' of Tyagaraja was demonstrated beautifully by Vishakha explaining the importance of how each sangati in the pallavi is to be sung comprehending the meaning. Rama had tears welled up in his eyes on hearing his own story from his sons Lava and Kusha. Immensely facilitated Vishakha weaved seamlessly into the story of Ramayana covering the story till Seeta Kalyana, quoting shlokas fluently from the original text and also choosing contextual compositions of great vaggeyakaras. The rendering of the story as well as the music compositions was matchless and full of charm. The music she offered with her team was sublime.

Explaining the key letter 'r' in Om Namo Narayanaya' and 'm' in Om Namah Shivaya' Vishakha explained how the word RAma emerges as a combination of both these key letters. She presented 'Nadaloludai' and 'Enta muddu' as in a concert suffixing them with swaras in the Lalgudi bani. Speaking about Dasharatha's Putrakameshti yaaga, Vishakha brought out the importance of annadaana (donating alms) cleverly knitting Purandara Dasa's 'Ragi tandira'. The breath-taking way in which Vishakha switches to any raga even as she is totally involved in the story is amazing.

As a tribute to Lalgudi Jayaraman, Vishakha had also composed an RTP in Simhanandana, the longest tala in the world of music. 37th of the 108 talas, Simhanandana is a complicated tala with 128 beats, 512 aksharas and 18 angas. The angas of this tala are Guru-Guru-Laghu-Plutha-Laghu-Guru-Dhruta-Dhruta-Guru-Guru-Laghu-Plutha-Laghu-Plutha-Guru-Laghu-Laghu-kakapada. Singing a pallavi in this tala is not every musician's cup of tea. This tala requires immense practice but Lalgudi played this tala at the age of 16 with no rehearsals. Vishakha sang the raga shortly, Charulata played a charming tana and the pallavi was performed enthusiastically by the entire team with also a short taniyavartanam.

Vishakha provides ample opportunities to her accompanists to exhibit their talent unlike in other Harikatha performances. Rama's beauty as encountered by Janaka was described with Mysore Vasudevachar's 'Ra Ra Rajeevalochana Rama' in Mohana. On hearing Lalgudi play this composition Mysore Vasudevachar is believed to have said, 'I only composed it. But you have infused life into it'.

Vishakha also spoke of other important matters in life like maintaining our tradition and how to teach our children to maintain our culture and said that one should always have a sense of belongingness to the town or village he/she comes from. The performance came to a close with the glory of Seeta Kalyana with Tyagaraja's 'Pavanaja Stuti patra pavana charitra' in Kuranji.

SRH score over RR

Sunrisers Hyderabad (SRH) produced a bowling masterclass defending their 151 runs after beating Rajasthan Royals (RR) by 11 runs in the IPL yesterday.

Siddarth Kaul (2/23), Sandeep Sharma (1/15) and Yusuf Pathan (1/14) bowled well for Hyderabad and helped their team edge Rajasthan in a last-over tie. Rajasthan skipper Ajinkya Rahane remained unbeaten on 65 runs but couldn't take his team towards victory. Sanju Samson (40) supported his skipper but a lack of partnerships after his dismissal didn't help Rajasthan's cause.

Earlier, a stellar bowling display in the final overs by Rajasthan helped them restrict SRH to 151/7. Krishnappa Gowtham gave Rajasthan a solid start after dismissing Shikhar Dhawan for six runs in the third over.

After his dismissal, SRH skipper Kane Williamson (63) continued his fine form with a solid fifty. He was ably supported by Alex Hales (45) to help his team post a decent total. However, Rajasthan took control of the proceedings with some fine bowling by Archer (3/26) and Krishnappa (2/18).

Kane Williamson was chosen as the 'Player of the Match.'

Mysuru, Apr. 30 - With the State elections round the corner, MYTHRI, the Women's PG Teachers Association of University of Mysore, as part of their monthly programme, had recently organised a discussion with members and had invited women to speak on the theme 'Political Participation of Women'. The programme was organised in association with a Bangalore-based NGO Avala Hejje, that works for the empowerment of women.

It was a non political discussion to find out the reasons behind the lack of women participation in the political sphere. This was mainly to hear various voices of women folk about the issue. Members identified several reasons such as lack of education, lack of support from the family, lack of motivation and lack of encouragement as the main factors.

The members also came up with some resolutions which need to be incorporated in the coming days to make women more active in politics. This gives greater visibility to women and their participation in decision-making bodies.

The members also felt that there must be a policy decision to uphold the dignity of women in politics and support their presence in politics. Prof. M. WORD OF THE DAY

Cathexis

Pronunciation: Kuh-THEK-sis (noun).

Meaning: Investment of mental or emotional energy in a person, object, or idea

Origin: You might suspect that cathexis derives from a word for "emotion," but in actuality the key concept is "holding." Cathexis comes to us by way of New Latin (Latin as used after the medieval period in scientific description or classification) from the Greek word kathexis, meaning "holding." It can ultimately be traced back (through katechein, meaning "to hold fast, occupy") to the Greek verb echein, meaning "to have" or "to hold." Cathexis first appeared in print in 1922 in a book about Freud's psychological theories (which also established the plural as cathexes, as is consistent with Latin), and it is still often used in scientific and specifically psychological contexts.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Every cloud has a silver lining

Meaning: Be optimistic, even difficult times will lead to better days.

Origin: 'Clouds' and 'silver linings' were referred to often in literature from then onward, usually citing Milton and frequently referring to them as Milton's clouds. It isn't until the days of the uplifting language of Victoria's England that we begin to hear the proverbial form that we are now familiar with - 'every cloud has a silver lining'. The first occurrence that is unequivocally expressing that notion comes in The Dublin Magazine, Volume 1, 1840, in a review of the novel Marian; or, a Young Maid's Fortunes, by Mrs S. Hall, which was published in 1840: As Katty Macane has it, "there's a silver lining to every cloud that sails about the heavens if we could only see it." 'There's a silver lining to every cloud' was the form that the proverb was usually expressed in the Victorian era. The currently used 'every cloud has a silver lining' did appear, in another literary review, in 1849. The New monthly belle assemblée, Volume 31 include what purported to be a quotation from Mrs Hall's book - "Every cloud has a silver lining", but which didn't in fact appear in Marian, which merely reproduced Milton's original text.

QUOTE BOX

Don't say you don't have enough time. You have exactly the same number of hours per day that were given to Helen Keller, Pasteur, Mother Teresea, Thomas Jefferson, and Albert Einstein.—H. Jackson Brown Jr.
